In our continuing commitment to protect your patients' privacy, as of July 30, 2010, Sesame is changing the default setting for Patient Login to restrict access to information between responsible parties and related adult patients. We understand that you may have on file consent forms from your adult patients allowing access to Personal Health Information (PHI) for related responsible parties.

By signing in the space below, you are agreeing that: (i) the default settings in the Patient Login program of Sesame for your adult patients will be set to allow all related responsible parties to access such adult patient's PHI; (ii) it is your responsibility, and not Sesame Communications' responsibility, to obtain written consent from your adult patients that allows related responsible parties access to such patient's PHI; and (iii) for those adult patients who do not provide you with such written consent, you will manually change the Patient Login program so that related responsible parties do not have access to the PHI of such patients.

Of course, if you are fine with the change we are making to our default settings then you do not need to do anything further and the changes will take place on July 30, 2010. However, if you agree that we should keep the current settings as a default as described above then please sign in the space below and return this letter to us.

Sincerely,

Sesame Communications, Inc.
